It's a No-Brainer

We know it's true. We've heard it a thousand times. The whole is greater than the sum of its parts. In your business, you can see it every day. The power of your team is the backbone of your organization. Each member adds a unique perspective that allows your team to thrive better together. Yes, collaboration in the office is the key to productivity.

But how do you get there? What are the collaboration tools to allow team members in the modern workplace to achieve their productivity goals and remain cohesive? How do you collaborate across multiple offices, from work-at-home environments?

Productivity tools these days give you the best chance at maximizing your efficiency and your collaboration. With cloud and hybrid tools at your fingertips, you can see a remarkable transformation in how your team communicates.

And we'll show you how.

"With cloud and hybrid tools at your fingertips, you can see a remarkable transformation in how your team communicates."

Exploring the Digital Workplace

Think of this:

"57% of work interruptions are caused by social media or switching between applications."

It doesn't have to be that way.

IBM Connections

At AdRem, we're big proponents of IBM Connections because of the collaboration possibilities. Here, you get an ideal home base for your team. The system allows for easy branding for your organization, so your team always feels at home. Collaboration apps are brought into the user interface, giving you accessibility and convenience.

One of the most exciting features of this program is its file sharing abilities. File sharing means that everyone on your team is in sync on your documents. There is never a question about latest drafts and versions. File storage architectures allow you to create the hierarchy your business needs, based on employee level and security protocols.

Long story short, IBM Connections is one of the industry's most successful methods of supersizing your team's productivity.

Office 365

Microsoft's Office 365 is exploding in popularity, with a goal of reaching 100 million users by the end of 2017. This cloud-based network of the core business applications from Microsoft—Word, Excel, PowerPoint and others—not only puts your team on the same productivity tools, but can change the way your team functions and the results they achieve.

In fact, Forbes recently described Office 365 as this: "You are doing much more than simple app implementation, you are changing the way users work—the way IT works—and preparing your organization for a cloud-centric future."

Our Office 365 solution brings you to the forefront of cloud-based productivity.

Ring Central

When you want to collaborate on ideas, while integrating your ticketing system, RingCentral can be a huge help. This intuitive platform gives you team messaging to cut down on the email clutter we're all sick of seeing. You can incorporate your Evernote and Jira apps into the system so that your team is in sync whenever and wherever they work.

This software is a great way to control the chaos of your current system, all while helping you to make your ideas actionable.

The AdRem Solution

Because your business is unique, you need solutions that speak to your business goals. So many SMBs overpay for underused tools. At AdRem, we want to change the way you think about IT. We bring IT to your business goals, not the other way around.

Call us today to talk one-on-one about where you see your business going, and how AdRem can boost your productivity.
